Audra, Thanks for sharing your experience. PVA is the primary solution I have chosen for my own work for the same reasons you have stated. Hot glues are usually used in the commercial binding industry and they combine it with spine roughening before the glue is applied to create more surface area for the glue to bind too.

When we built our home - and cabin - we had one rule: Don't move in until it's finished. Because otherwise, the house never gets finished. Well, Grace was crawling around on a dirty garage floor, so we moved in to the house before it was 100% done, and that was the day work stopped on the inside of our house. And now we live in a home that is ...
